

Harwell Campus Cycle to Work Day – April 2016

HarBUG, the Campus bicycle users group, organised and ran their most successful cycle to work day on the 20th April. Over 120 cyclists from 20 Campus organisations participated in the event.

On a bright and sunny morning, escorted groups of cyclists set off from Abingdon, Didcot, Wantage and Grove to the Campus and enjoyed a free cyclist's breakfast at the Harwell Pavilion on arrival.

The escorted groups allow cyclists who have never cycle to work before or cyclists new to the Campus to discover routes and get advice and help from experienced cycle commuters.

The escorted group rides were popular, as ever, but alongside other cyclists joined with work colleagues or friends to cycle in together.

The cyclist's breakfast is a great occasion for cyclists from the Campus to get together to chat and discuss local cycling issues. The cyclist's breakfast was sponsored by Magnox.
